

APPROVED

Contractor

A concept redesign for Approved Contractor, Inc., built specifically for them, unprompted.

Same business. Same license. A site that actually shows it.

The idea is simple: the company is called Approved Contractor. The whole site is built around that one word, backed up. Their real license, current and checkable, is right at the top instead of buried in a footer, set in their own red and their own stamp mark instead of a stock template.

WHY IT MATTERS

What a working site actually does for a business like this.

Not features. What a homeowner actually experiences in the first ten seconds.

01

Someone can check you're real.

A homeowner comparing three quotes can verify the license is active without taking anyone's word for it. It's on the page, dated, with a link straight to the state lookup.

Verified against the CSLB register, license #952272

02

Your own reviews do the talking.

Customers already thank Jared by name, unprompted, in their reviews. That's what a new visitor reads first now, not a stock photo of someone else's living room.

From reviews already published, quoted verbatim

03

The call button works on a phone.

Most people find a contractor while searching on their phone. The button they'd tap to call should not be sitting behind a chat popup the second the page loads.

Seen on the current site today, mobile view

WHAT IT COSTS

Three ways to take this further, and one honest reason for the price.

~~$2,450~~ $700

1 • Take it as is

Your content and photos swapped in · Minor changes to fit your business · SEO set up properly · Live on your own domain ·

Everything handed over, you own all of it

Why it's less: the site's already built. I'm not starting from a blank page, so I'm not pricing it like one.

2 • CUSTOM

From $1,500

Take it further

More pages, deeper customization, built around how you actually run things day to day.

3 • ONGOING

$99/mo or $69/mo billed annually

Let me look after it

INCLUDED, WITHIN REASON

Hosting and technical upkeep, keeping SEO healthy, text and copy edits, swapping photos, updating hours, prices, menus or services, and seasonal changes.

"Within reason" is used plainly, not as an escape hatch: it means small updates and maintenance. Anything bigger is quoted before any work starts, so there's never a surprise invoice. That boundary is also what keeps the monthly this low.

QUOTED SEPARATELY, À LA CARTE

New pages or sections, branding or logo work, photography, new long-form content, new features, and anything that's a new project rather than an update.

4 • Marketing support — scope to be discussed. On top of the build, hands-on help from a brand-first marketing executive: 13+ years at CMO level building brands that have generated billions of earned impressions and communities of millions.

Nobody hired me for any of this. I did it because I like the work, and I'd rather start a relationship than win a bidding war.